

Graduated in agronomic engineering from the Polytechnic University of Madrid; Master in European Communities from the Polytechnic University of Madrid; Master in Agrarian Economics from the University of California at Davis; Law degree from the University of Valladolid, Spain. Isabel is currently a Senior Consultant at Ernst & Young Global Limited – EY. Before joining Neoenergia, she held the positions of Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries, Food and Environment, was Deputy General Secretary of the Sectoral Policy of Popular Political Party of Spain and was National Deputy in Spain.

Cuide do meio ambiente

Imprima em preto e branco e somente se necessário.

Internal Use