

Deputy Chief Executive Officer of Neoenergia

She is also Effective Member of the Board of Directors of several Neoenergia's Group subsidiaries and of Norte Energia.

Personal profile and educational background

Married, mother of 1, Solange Ribeiro has degree in Electrical Engineering from the Federal University of Pernambuco and a Master's degree in the same area from Pontifícia Universidade Católica of Rio de Janeiro.

She worked also as an academic researcher from Centre of Environmental Technology of Imperial College of Science, Technology and Medicine, in London.

She speaks Portuguese, English, and basic Spanish.

Experience in energy sector

From 2012 to 2017, she was Chief Executive Officer of Neoenergia, where she joined in 2004 as Regulation and Environment Executive Officer.

With over 35 years of experience, she has a deep knowledge of the electric sector and diversified professional experiences that merge tactical-operational and strategic aspects. She has held senior leadership positions at large companies such as AES Eletropaulo and CHESF.

She worked as consultant for the National Economic Research Associates – NERA, in Washington, DC, as a project developer of economics and regulations issues in the electric industry restructuration.

Other information

She is engaged in different multi-sector coalitions, working actively towards a more sustainable and inclusive agenda, which includes accelerating climate ambition through the energy transition.

She is Vice-President of United Nation Global Compact Board; Vice-President of National System Operator's Council and Vice-President of Board of Directors for Brazilian Association of Infrastructure and Basic Industries.

Member of the Board of Directors for Brazilian Business Council for Sustainable Development; member of the Board of Directors for Brazilian Association of Electric Powerity Distributors and member of E+ Energy Transition Institute's Council. She was member of the Brazilian Symphony Orchestra's Council and member of the Economic and Social Development's Council.

